Position Details

Context The Office of the Chief Electoral Officer (OCEO) is a non-partisan office responsible for exercising general direction and supervision over the administrative conduct of elections and for enforcing fairness, equity, impartiality and compliance with the Elections Act, 1991. The OCEO is inviting applications for the position of Returning Officer (Waterford Valley). Newfoundland and Labrador has 40 provincial electoral districts, each requiring a Returning Officer (RO) to manage elections and by-elections within the district.

Duties The Returning Officer is responsible for the oversight and operations of Election Offices in their respective electoral district during elections and by-elections. Returning Officers and their staff interact with electors, political representatives and candidates in a fair and impartial manner. The position is responsible for renting suitable election offices and polling stations, hiring and training election officials, delivering electoral services to electors, candidates, and campaigns, and coordinating electoral activities with the Office of the Chief Electoral Officer. Returning Officers are appointed for a continuous term, and are called upon to administer by-elections and general elections in their respective district as required. In between elections Returning Officers may complete projects such as reviewing electoral polling boundaries, street verification, along with regular paid training and development.
